

LEADERBOARD

Donut companies expanding in United States

This is the lead story. Krispy Kreme to build four stores in Alaska; Dunkin' adding a dozen in Tennessee. Sed ac neque sodales, gravida tortor vel, molestie purus. Duis aliquet nunc quam, eu gravida sapien pellentesque.

Pricing action seen as promising step at Hillshire

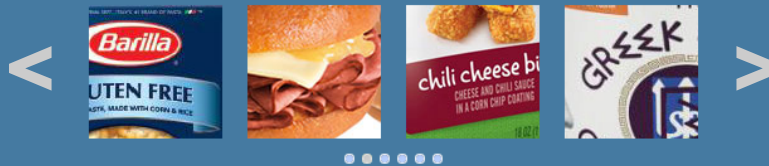

INDIANAPOLIS – Undeclared allergens caused 60% of recalls from the Food and Drug Administration and 65% of recalls from the U.S. Department of Agriculture during the second quarter of 2013, according to a quarterly recall index from Stericycle ExpertRecall.

Panel questions attitude of Pipestone workers

WASHINGTON – The Food and Drug Administration amended its color additive regulations for the safe use of spirulina extract as a color additive in candy and chewing gum, according to the Aug. 13 Federal Register. Spirulina is found naturally in tropical and subtropical lakes.

Slideshow: Pick your protein

Here's a look at food products on offer by retailers and restaurants. Lorem ipsum sit dolor let ament kniw pitanea illustrata. [view slideshow] esource is proud to announce its new buyer's guide service which is now available online to visitors and new suppliers. It boasts endless amounts of new features for customers and suppliers.

SPONSORED TEXT

Quote of the Week

“ That's what's going to change America. It's not GE or Heinz or Campbell's. Growth is coming from companies like Ella's and BluePrint — entrepreneurial startups. ”

— Irwin Simon, chief executive officer of the Hain Celestial Group
Forbes, August 12, 2013

Related Stories

EBITA, revenue rises for Glanbia after U.S. acquisitions

Energy at the core of healthy aging trend

June 2013 milk production up slightly from year ago

Putting the school nutrition puzzle together

May milk production up 1%

Groups to cross borders with gluten-free certification program